I grew up hearing

blessed, but somehow giving is MORE blessed. Go figure.

Creatively Giving

The Martin and Gracia Burnham Foundation has been so blessed this year! I am surprised and humbled at your creativity in giving.

Here he is at a one of his showings. His painting received the Merit Award. He gets the Merit Award in my book, too :0) Thank you, George!

My friend, George Whitfield, is an artist. When he sells a painting, he sends money to the Martin and Gracia Burnham Foundation. " He always says, "It's not much ... but I wanted you to have it."

Consistently Giving

Thanks to Trans World Radio for hosting me last month. I was able to tape 30 radio programs that will eventually be aired in the Philippines and Indonesia. This is Scott Hollinger, producer of our show, "Captive No More."

I want to thank the Primary Sunday School Department of Sycamore Grove Mennonite Church in Garden City, MO. They saved their Sunday School money for a year and voted to send it to me for the Radio Programs. Their gift paid for my trip to the TWR Headquarters and paid for my time there as I taped the programs. I couldn't believe their generosity! Thank you, kids, for letting your lights shine.

Collectively Working!

I'm always happy when people tell me, "We give to your ministry." I love putting ministry partner's names with faces. So - please - if and when you see me, let me know that you give to the Foundation.

We do God's work collectively.

- ◆ Some work with tribal people, and some give so they can.
- ◆ Some fly airplanes and make technology work to speed the gospel on its way, and some give so they can.
- ◆ Some write sermons and lessons, and some give so they can.
- ◆ Some train those headed for the mission field, and some give so they can.

All of us working together can accomplish much more than one person could ever dream of accomplishing. It is great to have you on our team. Only eternity will show what we have accomplished collectively.
